Dear _____,

Every hour of every day, another person is diagnosed with MS. We need to take action now to help the growing number of people affected by this disease. This is why I will be participating in Walk MS this spring to help the 7,050 local people living with multiple sclerosis.

Today, there is no cure for MS, but we're fighting to change that. This is why I am writing to you. I need your help, your generosity and your support.

This year, we have set a goal of raising $_____ and I'm asking you to please make a contribution too.

If you or someone you know has MS, please contact the National Multiple Sclerosis Society today at www.nationalMSSociety.org or 1-800-FIGHT-MS to learn about ways to help manage multiple sclerosis and about current research that may one day reveal a cure.

Studies show that early and ongoing treatment with an FDA-approved therapy can reduce future disease activity and improve quality of life for many people with multiple sclerosis. The National MS Society’s medical advisors recommend that people with MS talk with their health care professional about using one of these medications and about strategies and effective treatments to manage symptoms. The National MS Society is committed to ensuring that people with MS have the information and quality care they need to live healthy, productive and independent lives.
