Statewide Assistive Technology Programs (ATP’s)
ATP’s are federally funded programs in almost every U.S. state which offer:
- Information about what devices and services are available and where to obtain them
- Device loan and demonstration, and in some states, borrowing programs to ‘try out’ devices
- Funding resources for purchasing or acquiring assistive technology
- Device exchange and recycling programs that provide individuals with used equipment at little to no cost

Statewide Alternative Financing Program (AFPs) are programs in almost every U.S. state which:
- can help individuals living with a disability get affordable financial loans to purchase assistive technology.
- Typical assistive technology purchased through this funding include modified vehicles, home modifications, vision/hearing aids, and adapted computers.
Center for Independent Living
