WE INVITE YOU

to monthly networking and learning calls for mental health professionals working with people living with MS and their families.

These 50 minute conference calls are focused on developing a network of MS mental health professionals across the country with an opportunity to discuss complex situations, ask questions, and explore approaches to care and interventions to address the challenges of people living with MS. The calls are interactive and conversational. Participants are encouraged to come forward with case presentations or topics to facilitate discussion, or to request topics to learn about research or current trends in the field.

The calls are multi-disciplinary, targeted to social workers, family counselors, psychologists, psychiatrists, neuropsychologists and other licensed mental health professionals. Participants treat people living with MS in a variety of settings including medical facilities, long term care or other community agencies, as well as in private practice.

The monthly calls alternate between the fourth Monday or Thursday of each month at different times to accommodate varied schedules and geographic location.
